About this Property

Heard Farm is a 87-acre property consisting of mostly grass meadows with two apple tree orchards, pear trees, and native Paw-Paw trees.

Apple/fruit picking during the season is welcomed! Please be courteous to other fruit pickers and only take your fair share.

This property is a very popular spot for dog walkers and birders. Please keep your dogs within sight at all times and be aware of other visitors.

The trails are easy and the full perimeter loop totals about 2 mi. Several loops around the fields are shorter than this.

Heard is home to breeding populations of the state-threatened Bobolink, a ground-nesting grassland bird, as well as NHESP-listed Priority Habitat for Rare Species and Estimated Habitats for Rare Wildlife.

Keeping dogs out of the fields and cleaning up after them helps protect sensitive wildlife and their habitat.
Do your part!
